ABOUT CANCER NATION

Cancer Nation (formerly the National Coalition for Cancer Survivorship) is the leading voice for quality cancer care for all people touched by cancer. This year, we celebrate 40 years of demanding better care—four decades of elevating survivor voices and shaping national policy.

Because thriving after cancer takes more than treatment, it takes a nation.

This year, Cancer Nation will launch the Corporate Council, a community of organizations committed to improving life for the 18+ million Americans living with, through, and beyond cancer.

The Corporate Council is a year-round partnership that brings companies into direct collaboration with Cancer Nation on policy, survivorship initiatives, and national advocacy efforts.

WHY JOIN THE CORPORATE COUNCIL

Join the Council. Shape the Future.

Every survivor deserves care that helps us live well, not just survive.

Corporate members of the Council demonstrate leadership in health equity, community impact, and corporate social responsibility:

- Position your company at the forefront of national survivorship policy and systems-level change.
- Champion innovation in survivorship and whole person care.
- Engage in strategic briefings and high-level conversations shaping the future of care.
- Access real-world data and lived experience to inform smarter business strategy.
